9-19-16	Lynae receives a phone call from [REDACTED]	[REDACTED] says that she is currently on a waitlist for a parking permit but needs a parking permit now because she is pregnant and has issues with her mobility. A parking permit would allow her to park closer to campus and reduce the amount of walking she would need to do.
9-19-16	MC sends an email to Kerena to inquire about current law regarding accommodations for pregnant students
9-19-16	MC leaves a voicemail for [REDACTED]
9-20-16	MC and [REDACTED] talk on phone	[REDACTED] wants to know if there are Title IX protections or current legal statutes that provide special parking accommodations for pregnant students. [REDACTED] says that she can't use the bus because she takes her son to Ferndale in the morning and has to make it to campus because she has an 8am class. MC explains the ways in which pregnancy is treated as a temporary disability and that disabilities require some type of documentation if special accommodations are granted. [REDACTED] believes that she is being discriminated against because of her pregnancy under Title IX. MC gives [REDACTED] an explanation of discrimination under Title IX. MC also says that he would like to check with his director and then decide next best steps to move forward and that he would call [REDACTED] back.

9-21-16	MC calls [REDACTED]	[REDACTED] wants the matter resolved quickly because she doesn't want to buy temporary parking permits. MC says that he will check with David Brunnemer to see if there is a way for [REDACTED] to receive documentation from her doctor explaining that her pregnancy status creates a need for [REDACTED] to have a parking permit and then use the documentation to receive a parking permit w/o needing to register for a Disabled Placard through the DMV.
9-21-16	MC contacts David	MC explains [REDACTED] situation to David and David believes that he may be able to help [REDACTED] get a parking permit as an accommodation for [REDACTED] temporary disability (pregnancy). David says that he will need to discuss the matter with the new director of parking services but is willing to talk to [REDACTED].
9-21-16	MC calls [REDACTED]	MC shares his discussion with David to [REDACTED]. MC asks [REDACTED] if she would be comfortable receiving a phone call from David. [REDACTED] answers in the affirmative and grants MC permission to release her cell number to David. MC says that he will check back with [REDACTED] to see if she needs further assistance after she works with David.
9-21-16	MC calls David and provides [REDACTED] contact info.
9-22-16	David confirms that he has contacted [REDACTED] and is working with her
10-7-16	MC leaves a voicemail with [REDACTED] to check in
October	MC calls [REDACTED]
11-3-16	MC and [REDACTED] talk on phone	[REDACTED] says that she met with Bob Putich and a woman whose name she couldn't recall. [REDACTED] says that Bob informed her that she would need to apply for a disabled placard outside of the university if she wanted parking for the remainder of the quarter; either that or purchase weekly temporary parking. Adriana expressed frustration with the process; that she needed to get documentation from her doctor and then apply for a placard, sending the paperwork to Olympia as opposed to the school having a process for pregnant women that needed parking due to their pregnant status. She also expressed frustration with the fact that she spent $80 on temporary parking prior to receiving a disability placard from Olympia. Now, she can park on campus. MC indicated that he would look into avenues for developing a policy around this issue but that it would be a long process. [REDACTED] indicated that she would like to be kept in the loop and thanked MC for his assistance.
